MUST GIVE MORE TIME

Federal Clerks to Work Until 4.30.

Stackable Announces Change for Feb. First.

The New Order Has Disarranged Washington's Social and Business Schedule.

Federal government employes in Honolulu and in all parts of the Islands must work a half an hour longer every weekday than usual. The business day in future will close at 4:30 instead of at 4.

Collector of Customs Stackable has just issued an order to the employes in his department, requiring all clerks on and after February 1, to work from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. with a half hour for Nuncheon, and on Saturdays from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. without an allowance

The regulation covering the hours of kept his discovery to himself. labor is as follows:

Hours of labor of all clerks and other THE PALMER WOODS' employes, of whatever grade or in the Treasury Department, except those required by law or regulation to work more than seven hours a day, extended from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., with an allowance of one-half hour for luncheon. On Saturdays during the months of July, August and September, the hours of labor will be from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m., without allowance for luncheon.

Secretary Leslie M. Shaw of the Treasury Department has promulgated the order for increased hours, or rather living up to the regulation, as Treasury Department, Jan. 9, 1904. To officers and employes of the Treasury Department and others con-

Attention is called to the provisions of an act of Congress approved March 15, 1898, which provides as follows: It shall be the duty of the heads of the several executive departments, in the interest of the public service to require of all clerks and other employes of whatever grade or class, in their respective departments, not less than seven hours of labor each day except Sundays and days declared publie holidays by law or executive order: Provided. That the heads of the departments may, by special order, stating the reason, further extend the hours of service of any clerk or employe in their departments respectively; but in case of an extension it shall be without additional compensation. In order more effectually to comply with the above provision of law, it is hereby ordered:

1904, the hours of labor for all clerks and other employes of whatever grade or class in this department, except those now required by law or regulation to work more than seven hours a day, will be from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., with an allowance of one-half hour for

2. The foregoing provision will apply to all Saturdays except during the months of July, August, and September. During those months the hours of labor on Saturdays, unless otherwise ordered, will be from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. without an allowance for luncheon.

The change in hours has affected Washington, with its army of clerks, to such an extent that the whole schedule of business, social and diplomatic life, will have to be altered. Washington is a city of traditions. Washington, will of necessity have to be changed to 5:30. This will disarrange the hours of closing business houses. They formerly had two hours in which to receive the patronage of the clerks. Instead of closing at 6 they will hereafter close at 6:30.

In the official social life, afternoon functions will have to be held later in order that prominent office holders may have the opportunity to be present. Washington, as a whole, dislikes the change, and it was all due to a backwoods congressman fumbling among old regulations until he stumbled upon the one relative to the govplaced the matter before Attorney-General Knox, that official was reluctantly compelled to anounce that every department in Washington was violating the regulation, and that there after it would have to be observed. The congressman who dug up the obnoxious regulation, now wishes he had in the House of Representatives on January 14:

Mr. Wilson of Arizona: Mr. Speaker, the amendment offered yesterday was not to increase the salary of the governor of this Territory, but to increase the appropriation so as to cover the salary allowed by law.
